Amsaleye (Amy) Berhanu was born on September 18, 1965 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. She was the third child and second daughter of Berhanu Kidanu and Emebet Tesfazgui. Her early education was in Ethiopia, where she attended the Cathedral Primary School, and Nazareth High School and obtained her high school diploma with distinction in 1983.

During both her primary and secondary education, Amy excelled in all her subjects, and graduated with top honors. After living in Connecticut for one year, Amy moved to join her dad in Mbabane, Swaziland, where she taught French in a primary school.

Then in 1985, at the tender age of 20, she returned to the United States to join her elder sister Kidist Berhanu. She settled in San Diego, California, where she began her pursuit of higher education and professional career. She attended the National University of San Diego, California, where she obtained a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration, with emphasis in computers and business in 1991. She also obtained a Master of Science degree in Communications from North Western University in 2005, while being fully engaged in her professional responsibilities. She was indeed a very driven, focused and results oriented individual.

Amsale was very passionate about family. She loved and looked forward to family gatherings and would make every effort to be present at such occasions. In Seattle, Amsaleye found a wonderful friend Eric Mollet with whom she started a warm and loving relationship. Eric did the proper thing and asked Embeye and Gasheye for her hand in marriage on Januray 24th. They loved and adored one another and were engaged on January 31st, 2009 and planned to be married on January 9, 2010 in Addis Ababa.

Unfortunately, this was not to be. However, we take comfort in the fact that Amy has gone to a better place in God's hands and Eric is left with the sweet memories of the short but happy and vibrant time they had together.

Amsale is survived by her parents Berhanu Kidanu, Emebet Tesfazgi and her siblings Simon, Kedest, Tiblet, Eyerusalem, Bethlehem, Assemre and her fiancé Eric.

Rest in the peace of our lord until we meet to part no more.
